

FAIRE DANSER LE PATRIMOINE

RELIQUARIES DANCERS (male)

JOANNE MIGNEAULT (MIGNO)

Originally from Gatineau, Quebec, Migno is a sculptor and cultural worker based in the Outaouais region. As a recycler and treasure hunter, Migno draws inspiration from the Arte Povera and Recycl'art movements. She employs a variety of techniques, assembling, disassembling, gluing, layering, adding fragments, constructing, and deconstructing.

For the 100th anniversary of the late renowned choreographer Fernand Nault, Migno has created a limited edition series of reliquaries using scraps from the costumes of the ballet Carmina Burana. Each piece is unique and has the name of an artist or dancer who was a member of the Les Grands Ballets Canadiens company during the creation of Carmina Burana in 1966-1967.

DETAILS

Each reliquary is priced at CAD 120.00.

100% of the sale will go directly to the Fonds philanthropique Fernand Nault, a unique initiative aimed at fostering interest in dance heritage and supporting projects that contribute to the advancement of the arts in the community.
